Agilent Technologies

Agilent serves life sciences, diagnostics and applied chemical laboratories around the world with the most advanced instruments, software, informatics and consumables, all supported with teams of highly skilled and knowledgeable people. We help customers gain insights and create solutions to some of the world’s biggest challenges – in food, pharma, environment, energy, academic research and clinical fields. Our mission is to inspire discoveries that advance the quality of life, whether through scientific breakthrough or by helping our customers find the most economical and productive ways to manage their labs.
January
Mark Pfeifer
Wilmington, Delaware
"An iconic view of Grand Central Terminal in New York City. This 2.5-second exposure captures the mix of people as they rush on their way, stop to take pictures, or just look around this grand hall."

February
Jason Ang
Singapore
"I photographed these reflections at Gardens by the Bay in Singapore during the 2014 lantern festival display. Look closely to see which side is the reflection."

March
Ronald Feleus
Middelburg, the Netherlands
"We visited Moraine Lake near Banff, Canada, during a recent vacation. We hiked in the morning, but came back for this picture at sunset."

April
Sally Nowak
Coeur d’Alene, Idaho
"We love watching the antics of baby hummingbirds each year. Did you know a group of hummingbirds is called a charm? Fitting, I think."

May Jun He
Beijing, China
"The sunrise at Tongli Lake in Suzhou, Jiangsu province, China. During southern China’s humid summer, a clear sunrise such as this is unusual."

June
Marcus Haffei
Wayne, Pennsylvania
"June is one of the better months to see humpback whales at Stellwagen Bank National Marine Sanctuary, Massachusetts. I was trying to capture the spray from a distant whale when this one breached right next to me!"

July
Paul Poupart
St. Laurent, Quebec, Canada
"I took this photo when the sun was positioned just right to reveal the ghost riders produced by the shadows. A simple 90-degree flip of the photo gave this a surprising effect."

August
Eberhard Obreiter
Waldbronn, Germany
" Trolltunga is one of the most spectacular scenic cliffs in Norway, about 1,100 meters above sea level and hovering about 700 meters above Lake Ringedalsvatnet. People from all over the world travel to see it!"

September
David Adamec
Mulgrave, Australia
"We visited Moraine Lake near Banff, Canada, during a recent vacation. We hiked in the morning, but came back for this picture at sunset."

October
Shuang Feng
Guangzhou, China
"The Pinnacles is a true desert landscape in Nambung National Park, Western Australia, where the weathered rock spires rise out of yellow sand dunes. I took this photo after sunset. The long exposure gave me a deep blue sky and made the rooftops look like daggers."

November
Luca Godina
Waldbronn, Germany
"Horseshoe Bend, Arizona, is a rock has beautiful colors, so I decided to make it black and white. I found it even more beautiful."

December
Kaiyu Lu
Beijing, China
"I shot this in the icefall park on Xiyuan Mountain, Fangshan, Beijing, where people come to enjoy the ice during the warm winter of 2015."

"The scenery in Bryce Canyon, Utah, is absolutely spectacular and even better when viewed from the canyon floor. We took a horseback ride through Bryce, and the view of the hoodoos up close is a surreal experience."

James Gearing, Wilmington, Delaware

"The newly built Sunrise Kempinski Hotel is located in Beijing at Yanqi Lake. Because the APEC summit was held here in 2014, it is also called the ‘APEC hotel’."

Kaiyu Lu, Beijing, China

"An Australian pelican enjoys the sunset in Shark Bay, Western Australia."

Shuang Feng, Guangzhou, China

"This fireworks show celebrated the launching of the APEC (Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation) meeting in Beijing."
